

REASONS TO CONSIDER

Core U.S. Building Block

Many U.S. companies in major market indexes now earn most of their revenue abroad. EGLE offers core index exposure with a focus on American companies generating the majority of their revenue domestically.

Screening for U.S. Exposure

The S&P 500 U.S. Revenue Leaders Index screens S&P 500 companies for a minimum of 50% revenue generated within the U.S., identifying stocks that may benefit from long-term U.S. economic strength.

Harness The World's Largest Economy

America is driven by investments in technology, infrastructure development, and strong consumer spending. EGLE aims to capture these factors that may support continued U.S. growth in the years ahead.

DEFINITIONS

S&P 500 U.S. Revenue Leaders Index	The Index, as presently constituted, is designed to track the performance of U.S. listed and domiciled companies within the S&P 500® Index that generate at least 50% of their revenues from the United States (“U.S. Revenue Leaders”), as determined by S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC (“S&P” or the “Index Provider”). In constructing the Index, the Index Provider utilizes FactSet, a leading financial data provider, to review the constituents of the S&P 500 Index on the basis of their geographic revenue exposure. Further, the Index will have caps in place to ensure that deviation from the sectors of the S&P 500 Index does not exceed 5% at each semi-annual rebalancing of the Index.
S&P 500 Index	S&P 500 Index tracks the performance of 500 leading U.S. stocks and captures approximately 80% coverage of available U.S. market capitalization. It is widely regarded as the best single gauge of large-cap U.S. equities.

Shares of ETFs are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the Fund. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns. The market price returns are based on the official closing price of an ETF share or, if the official closing price isn’t available, the midpoint between the national best bid and national best offer (“NBBO”) as of the time the ETF calculates current NAV per share, and do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times. NAVs are calculated using prices as of 4:00 PM Eastern Time. Indices are unmanaged and do not include the effect of fees, expenses or sales charges. One cannot invest directly in an index.
