How did the Fund perform in the last year?

The Fund seeks to provide investment results that correspond generally to the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of the Indxx Global FinTech Thematic Index ("Secondary Index"). The Fund is passively managed, and the investment adviser does not attempt to take defensive positions in declining markets. The Fund generally seeks to fully replicate the Secondary Index.

The Secondary Index seeks to invest in companies on the leading edge of the emerging financial technology sector ("FinTech"), which encompasses a range of innovations helping to transform established industries like insurance, investing, fundraising, and third-party lending through unique mobile and digital solutions.

For the 12-month period ended November 30, 2024 (the "reporting period"), the Fund increased 52.18%, while the Secondary Index increased 53.13%. The Fund had a net asset value of $22.37 per share on November 30, 2023 and ended the reporting period with a net asset value of $33.96 per share on November 29, 2024.

During the reporting period, the highest returns came from Zip Co Ltd. and Blend Labs, Inc. Class A, which returned 729.67% and 302.36%, respectively. The worst performers were kakaopay Corp. and StoneCo Ltd. Class A, which returned -50.35% and -39.23%, respectively.

During the reporting period, by sector, the Fund had the highest exposure to Financials at 70.2%, and Information Technology at 23.4%. During the reporting period the Fund recorded positive performance. The Fund benefited from its exposure to companies offering blockchain technology and alternative currencies, as increasing mainstream adoption and institutional interest in digital assets drove growth for these firms. The rise of mobile payments and point-of-sale services also contributed positively, with changing consumer preferences and the shift towards cashless transactions boosting the revenues of companies in this space. Additionally, the Fund's holdings in the personal finance software and automated wealth management segment performed well, as more individuals turned to these technologies to manage their finances. However, the Fund's performance was dampened by its exposure to the lending sector, where increased competition and regulatory scrutiny posed challenges for some companies. Overall, the Fund's diversified exposure across various FinTech segments allowed it to capitalize on the broader growth trends within the industry, while mitigating the impact of any sector-specific headwinds.
